55 Ethan Street Kellyville Ridge NSW

4 2 2

This home design of the future will not only enlighten your mind with the possibilities, it will astonish you with its inclusions and quality finish. Offering an elegant entry foyer leading through to a huge open-plan interior design, the focal point being the unique marble kitchen with the best of appliances. The bedrooms are all good sizes. The upstairs master suite includes an open plan TV room/rumpus plus balcony, walk-in robe and unbelievable ensuite bathroom. The separate home office/guest/home cinema adds a different dimension to the value of the home. Natural light is a real feature of this home with the kitchen, living rooms and elevated alfresco entertaining deck all with northerly aspect. Superb inclusions such as timber floors and staircase, reverse cycle ducted air-conditioning and open fireplace all add to the mystique of this unique style of living. Close to schools, shops and transport, this home is located in a quiet street and is an absolute must to inspect.
